Herzegovina, a historical region in southern Bosnia and Herzegovina has since ancient times been a place where the Mediterranean meets the cold and high Dinarides. In this embracement of two worlds, two climates and two ways of life, a land with a rocky landscape and laborious people was created, a land divided in two by the strong and beautiful river Neretva that connects Herzegovina with Croatia and the Adriatic. Herzegovina is the land of natural beauties, but also a place where for centuries different cultures and civilization meet. One of the main characteristics of Herzegovina today is that three major religions meet here – Christianity, Islam and Orthodoxy. You can find traces of all three religions in the tourist destinations of Herzegovina, which you should not miss.

You are invited to visit Herceg ethno village, as a unique hotel and tourist complex, spread on the area of 4 ha. The centre of the complex consists of the Herceg restaurant, hotel, hamlet with 10 stone houses for accommodation and a small shopping area with ten stores selling traditional products, like home-made honey and freshly ground flour. There is also a conference hall built for business purposes and an amphitheatre as a place for cultural events. To complete the impression of the village there is a chapel on the highest slope and a vineyard with autochthonous wine sorts Žilavka and Blatina in the vicinity. Stables with local domestic animals make the impression complete.
